Chairman's MESSAGE

The Board of Regents devoted much of the 2000-01 year to prioritizing the recommendations presented in May 2000 by eight Commission Wartburg task forces. In the process, we designated the priorities as urgent, to be addressed in the next two years; important, to be started within the next five years; and desirable, to be addressed over the next 10 years. These priorities, announced in October 2000, are the cornerstone for Campaign Wartburg, the most ambitious comprehensive fundraising campaign ever undertaken by the college.

The process of prioritizing the commission recommendations was one of the most intensive, yet clarifying exercises the board has ever undertaken. I am grateful for the time, attention, and energy board members devoted to this monumental task.

Defining and clarifying Wartburg's goals for the future required the efforts of hundreds of alumni, friends, faculty, staff, and students. Implementing the priorities will require involvement and support from thousands more.

We have charted a course of distinction for Wartburg College, and we look forward to your continued involvement in our efforts.

Fred W. Hagemann '67, Board of Regents Chairman

President's MESSAGE

Our Sesquicentennial celebration has caused me to pause and reflect on the contributions of countless individuals and organizations to the college's rich traditions and continuing success.

This report recognizes donors who contributed gifts in fiscal year 2000-01. Think of how many pages it would take to recognize all those who have supported Wartburg financially over the past 150 years!

If we added volunteer efforts in support of the college, the list would be longer yet. It would include those who have served on the Board of Regents, the Alumni Board, the Parents Committee, the Minority Alumni Advisory Council, the Sesquicentennial Committee, and on other advisory groups. It would include alumni, parents, pastors, and friends who have encouraged prospective students to consider Wartburg. We would list alumni who have hosted events, served as class agents, or represented Wartburg at a church assembly or a college fair.

On that list would be 235 dedicated volunteers who served eight Commission Wartburg task forces and whose work has significantly impacted the college's future. In October 2000, the Board of Regents announced an ambitious set of priorities based on 266 task force recommendations. Many of these priorities have been implemented and others are addressed as part of Campaign Wartburg, a comprehensive effort through May 2006 to provide resources for endowment, facilities and special projects, and the Annual Fund.

As we look with anticipation to the future, we gratefully remember all donors and volunteers who have contributed to Wartburg's success over the past 150 years and specifically those who supported our efforts in 2000-01.

2000-2001 Annual Report

This Annual Report publicly acknowledges, by category, those alumni and friends who made gifts during the 2000-01 fiscal year (June 1, 2000–May 31, 2001). Thanks to your support, Wartburg College continues to enhance its academic program, provide much-needed financial aid to talented and deserving students, and make significant investments in technology and improvements that enhance the teaching and learning environment on campus.

- Presidents Round Table: acknowledges those whose cumulative, lifetime giving for any purpose totals $50,000 or more.
- Heritage Society: acknowledges those who have made provisions for a deferred gift or included Wartburg College in their estate plan.
- Tower Society: acknowledges those whose Annual Fund, Booster Club, and Annually Funded Scholarship gifts total $1,000 or more during the fiscal year.
- 1852 Society: acknowledges those whose restricted gifts total $1,000 or more during the fiscal year.
- Annual Fund gift: defined as any unrestricted gift.
- Matching gifts: gifts received from matching gift companies, which are credited to the company and not to the individual responsible for securing the gift. However, an asterisk (*) appears by the name of the donor whose gift is matched.
- Stalwarts: donors who have contributed to Wartburg for at least 10 consecutive years. A pound sign (#) appears by their name.

Wartburg received 9,755 gifts during the fiscal year. These gifts totaled $5,475,143. Every gift and every donor is important in meeting the challenges of funding a distinctive undergraduate education. Your gifts help Wartburg realize its mission as a residential, liberal arts college of the church. On behalf of all of us at Wartburg, I thank you for your generous support and commitment to the work of the college.

DEFERRED GIVING—LIFE INSURANCE

Planning To Make a Difference

Pat Leonhart '71 has witnessed from several vantage points the unique role that Wartburg plays in shaping students' lives. Whether as alumnus, parent, or mentor, she's committed to ensuring that future generations can benefit from the Wartburg experience.

Pat's connection with Wartburg is really a family affair. She was a Wartburg student for two years before ultimately earning a bachelor's degree from the University of Northern Iowa. Both she and her husband, Gene, have been actively involved in several areas of the college, including Commission Wartburg and the Regents Scholarship competition. Their two children, Amy '91 and David '96, both graduated from Wartburg. A fourth-grade teacher at Denver (Iowa) Community Schools, Pat has also worked with dozens of Wartburg student teachers through the years.

Giving something back to the college was an important consideration in the estate-planning process for Pat and her family. For her, life insurance became an effective tool to accomplish several positive outcomes.

"The idea of creating a gift through life insurance originated with our Lutheran Brotherhood representative," Pat said. "We were updating our financial plans and talking about the future—what we'd like to do for our children and organizations that we care about.

"The insurance policy was an opportunity to expand a gift beyond our current resources," she added. "It also guarantees that there will be a gift to Wartburg in the future."

Since the college is the owner and beneficiary of the policy Pat established, she receives a charitable deduction for all premium payments made as gifts to Wartburg.

Both Pat and Gene are grateful for the opportunities their children had at Wartburg, and that was an important factor in their giving decision.

"I would encourage any young person to consider Wartburg," Pat said. "It's such a great place. There's a commitment from faculty, staff, and the community to educate the whole person.

"I look at Amy and Dave and they both made so many friends at Wartburg that they still get together with; it's such a special community," Pat said. "The caliber of student is top-notch. I've had Wartburg student teachers in my classroom for the past 17 years, and they're always well-equipped, and not just for teaching, but for being leaders in the community."

A gift of life insurance may represent an ideal way for other alumni and friends to participate in Campaign Wartburg and invest in the future of the college.

"We found [a gift of life insurance] to be a wonderful way for people who may not have the resources to make as large an outright gift still be able to contribute in a significant way," Pat said.

GIFT ANNUITY

Continuing a Family Legacy

Esther Fischer believes strongly in Wartburg's mission to prepare its students for lives of leadership and service as a spirited expression of their faith and learning. After all, her family lived out that mission long before she ever attended Wartburg College.

"The Rev. Johannes Wittig, my great-grandfather (pictured in upper right corner), studied at Wartburg Castle in Eisenach, Germany, before coming to the United States," Esther said. "After emigrating to America, he served as pastor at St. Paul Lutheran Church-Hickory Grove in Auburn, Neb., from 1887-1892, and he composed much of his own pipe organ music."

Wanting to honor the memory of her great-grandfather as well as impact future generations of Wartburg students, Esther established a gift annuity that will ultimately provide scholarship support to music students.

"During my time at Wartburg, I sang in the choir, which went on tour in the United States," Esther recalled. "I also played flute in band during World War II."

A native of Nebraska, Esther now lives in Liberty, Mo., and has been a leader in her church. She also has passed on her love of music to her two grandchildren.

"Music and Wartburg College have both been important in my life," Esther said.

1852 Founders SOCIETY

The 1852 Founders Society recognizes alumni, parents, and friends who made contributions of $1,000 or more to a restricted fund during the fiscal year. These gifts support facility and special projects, enable capital expansion, and enhance the endowment through scholarships, chairs, and professorships, as well as providing for special needs throughout campus.

Alumni GIFTS

Support from alumni is critical to the continued growth and success of Wartburg College. Together, the 17,000 living alumni of Wartburg form the foundation upon which the future of the college rests. Alumni gifts offer one measure of alumni satisfaction with their college experience. At Wartburg, 29 percent of alumni made a gift to the college in 2000-01. While that figure is better than average for liberal arts colleges nationwide, it's lower than the 50 percent to which we aspire.

Providing Annual Support

"We have a desire to support education, and Wartburg is the institution we choose to support," said J. Robert Loslo. Bob and his wife Joan were active as Wartburg students and have maintained a strong relationship with the college as alumni.

The Loslos met at Wartburg, where both were involved in the Wartburg Trumpet, Wartburg Players, and KWAR-FM. Bob wrote a popular Trumpet "Knight Beat" column for three years. They remain impressed that President Conrad Becker and his wife Louise made it a point in those days to interact with all Wartburg seniors through a series of Sunday-evening suppers at their home.

Over the years, Bob and Joan have continued their involvement with the college. They are regulars at Wartburg's home football games and follow the Knights to most away games as well. They attend Artist Series programs and other campus events, and they rarely miss Homecoming. Joan is a past Alumni Board member and worked at the Wartburg library from 1980 to 1987.

Bob, who spent his career as a high school English teacher, retired in 1998. Joan, a librarian at the University of Northern Iowa, is currently on phased retirement and plans to retire in a couple of years.

The Loslos have supported the college financially with regular gifts to the Annual Fund and by making a provision for Wartburg in their will.

"We don't have children," Joan explained, "and for a long time, we have planned to leave our estate to Wartburg."

In 2000, they decided to make a more substantial gift than ever to the Annual Fund, reasoning that "the college could use the funds now, and we could see the results of the gift and enjoy the benefits."

By supporting the Annual Fund and including the college in their estate planning, the Loslos are members of both the Tower Society and the Heritage Society. They also support programs for student-athletes with their membership in the Wartburg Athletic Booster Club.

ED SCHARLAU '61 PRESENTS CLASS GIFT TO PRESIDENT OHLE.

CLASS OF '61 SCHOLARSHIP

Working Together for Wartburg's Future

It takes a team effort to ensure Wartburg's future, and the Class of '61 did its part by raising more than $20,000 to establish an endowed scholarship in honor of its 40th reunion.

"With a sense of desiring to assist others with the education, service opportunities, sense of community/family, and the learning of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ we experienced at Wartburg, the Class of '61 voted overwhelmingly to endow a scholarship that will keep on giving," said Ed and Rennie '61 Scharlau, who served as class agents to initiate the fund raising. "Our classmates gave generously; we have been blessed and now it is our turn to give thanks."

Maintaining a strong connection with Wartburg is nothing new for the Scharlaus. A former Alumni Citation recipient, Ed served on the Commission Wartburg Marketing and College Relations Task Force, while Rennie is a former Alumni Board member.

"As we think about our gifts to Wartburg, it is with a sense of gratitude. Wartburg helped mold us and sent us on our way to be productive in our professional lives and in our service to others," said the couple. "During our years at Wartburg, we experienced a true sense of family and living in community; therefore, we want others to share the Wartburg spirit and grounding.

"Giving to Wartburg has become a joy and Wartburg has consistently demonstrated that it will be a conscientious steward of our gifts," they continued. "We certainly look at our giving as an investment in the future of Wartburg and the larger community—our world."

FACULTY AND STAFF

Serving Students as Faithful Stewards

As a college of the church, Wartburg strives to help students find their calling and embark upon their vocation to serve God and others. For Augie and Barb Waltmann, that calling includes serving Wartburg as well.

Their contributions have come in various forms: Augie, a professor for more than 30 years in the mathematics, computer science, and physics department, has also been an assistant football coach and a leader among the faculty. Barb has offered countless hours of time and energy to campus and community organizations. Both Augie and Barb have given generously to allow the college to fulfill its mission.

Members of the Presidents Round Table, the Waltmanns recently made a significant gift of real estate to benefit the new science building.

"Wartburg is an excellent Christian liberal arts college that I am proud to call my alma mater," Augie said. "My faith in God has grown, both while a student and faculty member, through participation in chapel services and many other activities with Wartburg students and colleagues.

"God has blessed me so I can be His steward through gifts to Wartburg," Augie added. "It is truly a joy to help students learn, mature, and succeed as a result of their Wartburg education."

The Waltmanns' connection with Wartburg is a family affair. All of Augie's and Barb's five siblings are Wartburg alumni, and their oldest daughter, Cheryl '91, is also a graduate. Barb, with daughters Cheryl and Denise, established an endowed scholarship in 1986 to honor Augie, whose service in the classroom has now spanned five decades.

"It is very fulfilling to be a philanthropist with my time and finances in areas where it can make a difference in peoples' lives, and I can see that happen at Wartburg," Barb said. "As a student, the things that affected my life the most and helped develop my character were the personal connections with faculty; those opportunities make Wartburg unique."

Creating Memories for Future Students

As a member of a creative writing/design team for Leo Burnett, one of the largest advertising agencies in the country, Christopher Warmanen, Chicago, Ill., is in the business of developing meaningful slogans. He did just that in September at the college's annual Scholarship Recognition Luncheon when he challenged the soon-to-be Wartburg graduates to "put their money where their memories are."

"The more I talk with people about their time in college, the more it becomes clear that the Wartburg experience is like no other," Christopher said. "For me, off-campus May Terms and band tours are particular highlights."

Christopher is putting his money where his memories are. He recently established the WCCB Endowment Fund to provide ongoing financial support for the Wartburg band program, and he encourages other band alumni to join him in growing the endowment in the years ahead. He and his mother, Ruth '69, also created a scholarship fund to honor his grandmother, Helene Gerdes.

"My company offers a matching-gift program," Christopher added. "I love that with those matching funds, my gifts can go twice as far."

Parents & Friends GIFTS

Parents of Wartburg alumni and current students, along with other friends, play an increasingly important role in strengthening the future of the college. They are effective spokespersons, and their generosity is essential in enabling Wartburg to challenge students and change lives.

WAVERLY BUSINESS CAMPAIGN

Growing with Waverly

Nearly 70 years ago, the support of the local business community was an important factor in the decision to relocate Wartburg College in Waverly. Today, that partnership is just as strong, evidenced by the success of the Waverly Business Campaign. One of the local leaders in supporting the college has been Ramker Construction & Mini-Storage.

"We've had some of our children go to Wartburg, and we feel like it is a good organization for Waverly," said Bob Ramker. "It's important for everyone in a small town to work together, and I think Wartburg has done that well."

Ramker Construction & Mini-Storage has been involved in several campus projects. Most recently, the firm finished 16,000 square feet of space in the lower level of the Fine Arts Center to accommodate growing music education, music therapy, and art programs.

"We've always tried to support things that make Waverly grow, and we're happy to be a part of Wartburg," Ramker added. "The college does great things for the city."

Lynn '68 and Carol Lee '66 Butterbrodt
Mount Pleasant, Iowa

DEFERRED GIVING—BEQUEST

Investing in Tomorrow's Leaders

Lynn and Carol Butterbrodt have been loyal alumni, but it wasn't until their son Gage began looking at colleges that they fully remembered how special Wartburg was.

"We left Wartburg in mid-'60s, and for a handful of years we went back for every Homecoming and kept the relationships going," Lynn said. "Then people get married, have families, move around. We didn't make it back to campus for several years and didn't feel as connected to the college."

That changed when Gage and his parents started the college search process.

"We visited Coe, Luther, and Wartburg," Lynn said. "We were sitting in the Den at the end of our Wartburg visit, talking about going home and reviewing the strengths of each school, and Gage said, 'I don't need to think about it any longer. This is where I'm going to college.'"

A communication arts major, Gage '00 is now a sports reporter for the CBS affiliate in Lafayette, Ind.

"Gage had a great four years at Wartburg, and we enjoyed every minute of it, too," Lynn said. "Our enthusiasm and involvement got rekindled. When we reunited with many of our former classmates and their families, it was kind of like starting our Wartburg experience all over again."

To ensure their connection to Wartburg continues for generations to come, Lynn and Carol have included the college in their estate plans via a bequest. The ultimate gift will create a communication arts endowed scholarship in their name.

"We saw what the department was doing to prepare its students and how it helped Gage get to where he is today," Lynn said. "We know there are other young people with the same interests and capabilities, and we wanted to give back to the college that has given so much to us."

Putting Wartburg Up in Lights

One of the most notable features of the new Walston-Hoover Stadium is its massive scoreboard, complete with orange lights and a graphic message center. The scoreboard was made possible through revenue from a campuswide beverage agreement with Pepsi Americas, the local Pepsi bottling company, and in-kind support from Peters Construction Corp., general contractor for the $3.8 million stadium project.

"Pepsi Americas employees are committed to ensure the success of Wartburg College and its commitment to higher education," said Ken Schuler, On-Premises Manager for the local Pepsi bottler. "In any organization, it's people that make a difference. In working with Wartburg for many years, I can say that the people there are well respected and a sincere pleasure to partner with.

"Last summer we had two students from Wartburg who worked for us during the summer months," Schuler added. "Those two students were the best seasonal employees I have seen in my 32 years with Pepsi. Wartburg College is to be commended for the character qualities it instills in its students and faculty."

Dave Peters, president of Peters Construction Corp., describes his first involvement with Wartburg as satisfying.

"It's an incredible environment up here from the students to the faculty to the staff," Peters said. "It's been enjoyable working for a client that really wants to do things right. Wartburg wanted something special, and the stadium project really did turn out to be special.

"When we had the opportunity to get involved with the scoreboard, we jumped at the chance because we definitely wanted our name on this project," Peters added. "We feel like we have an investment in Wartburg."

Congregations GIFTS

The Evangelical Lutheran Church in America, its synods, and its member congregations provide important financial support to Wartburg College. As a college of the church, Wartburg gratefully acknowledges these relationships, which sustain the college and allow it to challenge and nurture students for lives of leadership and service as a spirited expression of their faith and learning.

Donors in italics provided a portion of their gifts to the Annual Fund.

Matching GIFTS

Many companies offer matching-gift programs that enable employees to have their personal gifts to Wartburg matched by their employers. Aid Association for Lutherans and Lutheran Brotherhood also significantly impact the college by matching the contributions of their policyholders or members. Wartburg is grateful to the companies and individuals making these important gifts possible.
